Hot Chocolate Drive-Thru

When the ground is white, the skies are grey, and the breeze has that wintery bite, nothing is more refreshing and satisfying than a warm mug of cocoa.

Winter is the perfect time to host a Hot Chocolate Drive-Thru where people can savour a warm beverage, while also feeling warm and fuzzy inside after contributing to this year's Fundrace Flurry!

How-To:

- Source supplies for hot cocoa drive-thru, including a container/thermos that will keep the cocoa warm outside.
- 2. Sell the cocoa for a small donation fee, and educate people about Fundrace Flurry and the cause it supports.

Costs:

Hot chocolate, table, cups, napkins

Risks:

- Food safety
- · COVID-19 transmission

Risk Mitigation:

- · Keep hot chocolate at stable temperature
- · Serve cups as people arrive (do not prep servings)
- · Ensure physical distancing
- · Masks and hand sanitizer
- Read AHS Community Organization Function information sheet and ensure food preparation, cleanliness, etc. are up to code

Permissions (Community Organization Function):

- Must notify EPH by submitting a completed Community Organization Function Notification at least 14 days prior to the date of the function
- · Security and Parking would need to be engaged to determine a suitable location, especially if incentivizing driving to campus

Virtual Pub Quiz

Quizzes? Prizes? Donating to a good cause? These are the components to a super fun, low-key fundraiser—the Virtual Pub Quiz!

How-To:

- 1. Choose a topic (TV/Movies, Sports, 18th Century Poets) and design a quiz with questions of varying difficulty. Use an online platform like Kahoot to share your quizzes.
- 2. For the cost of a donation, have people sign up to join this weekly quiz! The winner gets a themed prize related to the quiz topic, and everyone can have fun from the comfort of their own couches while keeping their wits sharp.

Costs:

Cost of prize

Risks:

· No foreseeable risks

Permissions:

None

Virtual Silent Auction

Silent auctions are a low-key and fun way to raise money. While we cannot meet in person, online formats work well for this fundraiser.

Whether by team members compiling gift baskets, or by gaining donations from other sources, use the silent auction to raise money, and encourage participation in this year's Fundrace Flurry!

How-To:

- 1. Collect and curate items for silent auction (gift baskets, donations, books, jerseys).
- 2. List items online and advertise your silent auction using social media and other outlets.
- 3. Set a date and time frame for your auction; encourage participation and bidding on the different items.
- 4. At the end of the event, send the participants their winnings!

Costs:

Silent auction items (if not donated), setting up online auction

Risks:

· Possible to lose money on items if bids do not exceed cost of item

Risk Mitigation:

· Encourage team members to source items via donation

Permissions:

· Allowable without a Charitable Gaming License. Transparency encouraged regarding the money earned from each item.

Snowball Challenge/Penguin Slide

Remember when celebrities were dumping buckets of ice water on their head to raise money for charity? Good times.
This challenge, while a little more Canadianized, is not much different.

Penguin Slide: for a decided amount of donations, the consenting team member will jump into the snow in their swimsuit.

How-To:

- 1. Within your team, nominate a team member to complete a challenge (penguin slide, or other icy challenge).
- 2. Fundraise to a certain amount before completing the challenge, which is then published on social media.
- 3. Nominate another team to complete the next challenge.

Costs:

No additional cost to team

Risks:

- · Possible risk of hypothermia given correct weather conditions, exercise caution!
- · Possible risk of COVID-19 transmission if team members are meeting in person

Risk Mitigation:

- Ensure that warm beverages, blankets, additional clothing/heating sources are present and available after the completion of the event, resist doing this event in severely cold conditions; consider rescheduling if conditions permit
- · Follow all current Alberta COVID guidelines

Permissions:

· No permissions required

Virtual Paint & Sip Night

Nothing is quite as refreshing and relaxing as drinking a glass of vino (or preferred beverage), while painting a sunflower, or a moon, or a daisy.

Host a virtual paint & sip night to keep this magic alive, and create art in your very own living room.

How-To:

- 1. Build Paint & Sip tool boxes (paint, paintbrushes, canvas, code/google meet link to Paint & Sip tutorial).
- 2. Sell these tool boxes to students, faculty, etc. for cost plus the price of a donation (total cost up to you).
- 3. Have members log-in to Google Meet/virtual platform where an instructor guides them through the Paint & Sip process.

Costs:

Toolboxes (paint(s), canvas, brush(es)), cost of instructor (if not by donation); could mitigate cost by using a Bob Ross video online and selling the toolboxes

Risks:

· Caution encouraged regarding wording related to alcohol

Risk Mitigation:

· Refer to drinks as "Beverages" and allow participants decide for themselves what those beverages should be (whether alcoholic or non-alcoholic)

Permissions:

· No permissions required

Special Considerations:

• Transparency encouraged regarding the cost of "toolboxes" and the subsequent amount that goes to charity
